In an interview with Mr. Jay Lakhani, Co-Founder of Jay Technochem

Ahmedabad, 1. What inspired the creation of CHEMAXE, and how does it aim to transform the chemical procurement and sale sector?
The inefficiencies in traditional chemical sales and procurement led to the creation of CHEMAXE. Traders in this business frequently miss out on profitable possibilities because they rely too much on outdated communication methods like phone calls and text messaging to be informed about market prices. Jay Technochem, which was established in August 2023, is committed to bringing professionalism to this disorganized but profitable industry with its cutting-edge web portal and mobile application. The business digitizes the whole sales and procurement process, places a high priority on pricing transparency, and streamlines order administration. CHEMAXE wants to transform one of the biggest markets in the world by empowering traders to act quickly and intelligently while also fostering a smooth, transparent, and effective trading environment.

2. Can you explain how the Last Traded Price (LTP) model works and its advantages over traditional pricing methods?
CHEMAXE's Last Traded Price (LTP) model is a standout feature that provides real-time, market-driven pricing based on the most recent transactions. With the LTP model, real market conditions are fairly and transparently represented, in contrast to conventional approaches that depend on stated prices. By ensuring that clients receive accurate pricing information, this strategy promotes an atmosphere free from market manipulation. CHEMAXE makes it easier for traders to make strategic decisions by providing them with real-time pricing information. In the end, the LTP model enhances the dependability and efficiency of the chemical procurement and sales market, while fostering transparency and fairness for the benefit of all parties involved.

3. What are some of the key features of the CHEMAXE platform that set it apart from other chemical procurement and sale platforms?

With the goal of improving the experience of purchasing and selling chemicals, CHEMAXE provides a comprehensive feature set.
1. Last Traded Price (LTP) Model: Assures accuracy and fairness in pricing by providing transparent, real-time prices based on the most recent procurement and sales activities.

2. Detailed Market Analysis: This section contains graphical displays of recent trades, buy and sell orders, total orders, top gainers and losers, and price variations. These insights provide users the ability to make educated decisions.

3. User Dashboard: Packed with features including revenue graphs, price assessment charts, and notional earnings and losses, this dashboard enables users to efficiently evaluate their trading performance and adjust their strategy.

4. Open Network to Nationwide dealers: This feature allows users to engage in a variety of sales and procurement operations by connecting them with a large nationwide network of dealers.

5. Performance Indicators: Offers thorough data on trade activity, facilitating well-informed decision-making and strategic planning.

When combined, these attributes make CHEMAXE an all-inclusive and intuitive platform that improves efficiency and openness in the chemical sales and procurement industry.

4. How does Jay Technochem ensure the reliability of activities on the CHEMAXE platform?

To guarantee the dependability of operations on the CHEMAXE platform, Jay Technochem has put strict procedures in place. The platform uses cutting-edge technology to protect user data and transaction details with strong encryption and strict security measures. Transparent procedures, such as real-time pricing and thorough market analysis, give users the knowledge they need to make safe and well-informed decisions. Strict user verification protocols guard against fraud and guarantee that only real traders can participate. Furthermore, the platform's user-friendly design places a high value on simplicity and use, making it suitable for traders with varying technical proficiency levels and promoting increased trust and dependability in its functioning.

5. What are Jay Technochem's future plans for expanding CHEMAXE's offerings and its reach in the global market?

Jay Technochem hopes to broaden CHEMAXE's market reach beyond tanker goods by introducing various other procurement and sales models that fit organization's needs. Its global network of merchants will grow as a result of this expansion, making cross-continental sales easier to procure from and clear about pricing. The company envisions CHEMAXE as the world leader in chemical sales and procurement, and is committed to ongoing innovation and platform feature expansion. Jay Technochem wants to encourage industry growth and improvement globally by democratizing and simplifying this process. Through this calculated growth, CHEMAXE will be able to better serve more people and promote a more integrated global chemical industry. (13-9)

Terror attacks in Kashmir and Pakistan's sinister agenda for global jihad

The recent terror attacks in Jammu and Kashmir, along with the D8 nations—Bangladesh, Egypt, Indonesia, Iran, Malaysia, Nigeria, Pakistan, and Turkey—open support to Islamist groups such as Hamas, indicate how these two parallel incidents converge at the point of a common agenda: global jihad. India must get its act together on internal security and adopt an "inward first" approach to protect itself against this danger.

The three terror attacks in J&K serve as a stark reminder that the country's fight against terrorism is not over. Such earlier incidents too revealed that despite best efforts, peace remains fragile in Kashmir, owing largely to Pakistan's dubious role in patronising and promoting terrorism in the Valley.

The Reasi attack on Sunday (the first of the three attacks) saw terrorists targeting a civilian bus, resulting in its fall into a gorge. According to Mohita Sharma, SSP Reasi, the terrorists struck the bus full of Hindu pilgrims, due to which the driver lost control and skidded off the road. This attack led to the death of at least 10 civilians, with many more injured. Initial investigations point towards the involvement of Pakistan in this attack. The recent developments in West Asia, especially with Israel taking a tough stand on Hamas, have given a fresh impetus to Islamist elements in the region and beyond. This is not a good development for India and its security.

Pakistan continues to remain the main base of anti-India forces in the region. By promoting cross-border terrorism, it nurtures terror through the ISI and supports terror outfits like Lashkar-e-Taiba and Jaish-e-Mohammed. To make matters worse, it has spread its wings in other countries such as Bangladesh and Nepal to spread anti-India nefarious activities.

The internal situation in Bangladesh too is fluid. Despite strong historical ties, including India's support during Bangladesh's liberation war against the tyrannical Pakistan and, in recent times, considerable Indian numerous development schemes, certain political factions with radical views tend to spread anti-Indian propaganda. These sentiments, which are mostly ignited by hard-core Islamist elements, disrupt peace in South Asia, thus making it difficult for India to have good relationships with its neighbours.

Then, of course, there's Turkey, which has been openly pushing an anti-India foreign policy. This encompasses contesting the Indian stand on Jammu & Kashmir and showing support to Pakistan over the matter.
